

Summer Concert Series

The Littleton Museum and the Friends of the Library and Museum are delighted to be able to welcome you and your families back to the museum front lawn for the 2024 Summer Concert Series. The concert series is free, with open lawn seating on a first come, first serve basis. Concerts take place on Wednesdays from 6:30 p.m. - 8 p.m.

The ThreadBarons: Wed., July 10, 2024

Chris Thompson & Friends:

Wed., July 17, 2024

Delta Sonics: Wed., July 24, 2024

Dakota Blonde: Wed., July 31, 2024

Food Truck: Mike's Coney Dogs: Food truck serving Michigan-style coney dogs. Guests are welcome to bring their own food as well.

Shade: Please don't bring large pop-up tents. If you bring an umbrella for shade, please sit toward the back so you don't block the view of others.

Pets: Well-controlled pets on short leashes are welcome.

Kids' Dance Zone: The Kids' Dance Zone is to the left of the stage (as you face the stage). It's a great spot to get those wiggles out and for kids to dance with their tall grown-ups without blocking views of the stage.

Bad Weather: The show goes on in the rain. In the event of extreme temperatures, strong wind, downpours, severe weather warnings, and/or close lightning the Museum may cancel or delay a show for a short time. If a show is canceled, the Museum will post an announcement on the Museum's Facebook page immediately. If there's no post on Facebook, the show is still on!

4th of July vs Independence Day

As many history buffs know, there's some irony to rise of the phrase "Fourth of July" since the date itself has little significance. Congress approved a declaration of independence on July 2, 1776, and John Adams expected that to be the most important date in American history. The official Declaration, however, was approved two days later by a committee. The first printed copies read "In Congress, July 4, 1776." Since that broadsheet was tacked up in cities all over the nation, the date stuck.

FREE Electronic Recycling Event

DATE: Saturday, July 27th from 10:00-12:00
LOCATION: 7275 S Broadway, Littleton, CO 80122
South Suburban Church Parking Lot

Have Electronics to recycle? We are hosting an Electronic Recycling Day, where you can dump your old electronic devices. Here is a list of items that you can recycle for FREE: Desktops and Laptops • LCD monitors • LED monitors • Computer peripherals • Computer accessories • Computer mice • Keyboards • Copiers • Printers • Digital cameras • Cell phones • Game consoles. Now they ARE accepting TV's and CRT Monitors for a fee depending on the size.

The event starts at 10:00 AM and ends at 12:00 or until the truck is full. You can line up in the car line before 10:00, but it will not be possible to "drop off" your items in the parking lot before the event starts. The truck arrives right at 10:00. See you then!

Colorado Caves To Explore

Cave of the Winds: Named for the cool breezes that emanates from the cave's entrance, Cave of the Winds in Manitou Springs is perhaps one of the most popular and stunning attractions in the Pikes Peak and Colorado Springs area. The cave opened to tourists in 1881, and today you can see 15 massive and brightly lighted rooms within nearly a mile of underground limestone caverns. For those who want a peek into its haunting depths, they'll turn out the lights and you can explore by lantern-light tours (included a haunted option). The cave also offers two thrill rides: a zipline across a canyon to witness the grandeur of the area, and the Terror-Dactyl, which launches riders 200 feet into the canyon at nearly 100 miles per hour. You'll also find attractions like the Bat-A-Pult — a seated zipline ride that soars 1,200 feet round-trip — as well as obstacle courses, climbing walls and gemstone panning.

After a journey into the center of the mountains, consider a stop at nearby Manitou Cliff Dwellings, where Ancestral Puebloan homes are tucked into the side of sheer walls.

Glenwood Caverns Adventure Park: Take an aerial tram to the top of a bluff in Glenwood Springs, where a tour of the stalactite- and stalagmite-rich Glenwood Caverns begins. The caves themselves are actually near the top of the mountain, rather than near the bottom as you might expect and require a ride to the top on a gondola that also offers amazing views of the surrounding Roaring Fork Valley. The cave's wide-open, massive rooms are lined with otherworldly rock formations. If you're feeling like you've got the hang of this caving thing, there are also tours of undeveloped portions of the caverns that include some crawling and squeezing to get in to.

After a tour deep underground, take the high-speed alpine slide to the bottom of the bluff or enjoy one of the rides found at the Glenwood Caverns Adventure Park near the cave's entrance.

Did You Know...

- Independence Day was first celebrated in Philadelphia on July 8, 1776.
- Both Thomas Jefferson and John Adams died on Independence Day, July 4, 1826.
- In 1941, Congress declared July 4 a federal legal holiday.
- The 56 signers of the Declaration of Independence did not sign at the same time, nor did they sign on July 4, 1776. The official event occurred on August 2, 1776, when 50 men signed it. Later that year, five more signed separately, and one added his name in a later year. Thomas McKean was the last to sign in January 1777.
- The origin of Uncle Sam probably began in 1812, when Samuel Wilson was a meat packer who provided meat to the US Army. The meat shipments were stamped with the initials, U.S. Someone joked that the initials stood for "Uncle Sam." This joke eventually led to the idea of Uncle Sam symbolizing the United States government.
- Benjamin Franklin, John Adams, and Thomas Jefferson served on the committee that picked the eagle for the national seal. Benjamin Franklin wanted the turkey!

May 2024 Real Estate Market

The May real estate market showed some clear movement, namely in the surge of new listings which were up almost 33% over the number of listings in May of 2023. That's good news for our market, which tends to be low on inventory. And it's especially good news for buyers. Because we have fewer buyers in this market due to the higher interest rates, it will be more competitive for sellers when listing a home. Sellers need to consider putting in some effort and preparation into the home before listing. Buyers and sellers have become resigned to the higher interest rates being the norm, so more people are entering the market. For buyers, we are still seeing some multiple offer situations on highly updated homes or homes priced to compete, but there are plenty of homes that are on the market for a few weeks, allowing buyers some time to consider their options. For sellers, if their listing is not overpriced, homes are selling fairly quickly. It is benefiting sellers to put some effort and preparation into their homes before listings. Fresh paint and carpet are basic preparations, and there may be other items that will help your home sell better. It's important to talk to an agent prior to doing any work to your home to make sure you are making changes that will improve your home and your selling price.
