See Elk In Rocky Mountain National Park

The elk rut is in full swing at Rocky Mountain National. In late August and into September, the mating season for the Colorado elk begins. The town of Estes Park and Rocky Mountain National Park are some of the best places in the state to witness this truly magnificent display of Mother Nature. The ritual begins with the male elk shedding their velvet to make their antlers nice and sharp to battle other male elk in the quest for a female companion.

The male elk can also be heard bugling for miles away as they make their call for a mate. Herds of elk can be seen in large grassy meadows within the park and even in downtown Estes Park. During “Elktober,” it is almost impossible not to see an elk.

Excess Harvest From Your Garden

Excess harvest can be handled in several ways: freezing, canning, drying, donating to food banks or charities, sharing with neighbors, making jams or jellies, or composting any unusable portions.

- Freezing: Blanching and freezing vegetables like spinach, kale, and zucchini preserves their nutrients and texture for future use.
- Canning: This allows for long-term storage of items like tomatoes, pickles, and jams.
- Drying: Drying herbs, fruits, and some vegetables (like tomatoes) reduces their size and weight for easy storage.
- Pickling: Pickling vegetables in vinegar and spices creates a flavorful and long-lasting preservation method.
- Fermenting: Fermenting foods like sauerkraut and kimchi can be a great way to add probiotics to your diet.
- Donating: Food banks and charities are often grateful for fresh produce donations.
- Sharing with neighbors: A simple act of sharing with those around you can build community and reduce waste.
- Selling: If you have a surplus, consider selling at a farmers market or through a local co-op.
- Composting: Composting is a great way to recycle any overripe, bruised, or unusable parts of the harvest back into the garden, creating nutrient-rich soil for next year.
- Creating a “harvest restaurant”: Host a dinner party featuring your excess produce.
- Donating to local nursing homes: Some nursing homes appreciate fresh produce for their residents.

National Hummingbird Day

National Hummingbird Day happens during the first Saturday in September. Hummingbirds are remarkable birds with unique characteristics that fascinate bird watchers and nature lovers, alike. There are over 300 species of hummingbirds throughout the world that belong to the Trochilidae family. The Trochilidae family is known for their small size, beautiful plumage, and amazing flying abilities. This family of birds comes in different sizes, colors, and behaviors that are specific to the location where hummingbirds live.

The average hummingbird is between 2 to 5 inches in length, making it the smallest bird in the world. Known for their beautiful colors, hummingbird feathers are an iridescent mix of greens, blues, reds, and purples. Interestingly, the iridescent color of hummingbird feathers gives the appearance of the feathers changing colors in light.

A hummingbird flaps its wings up to 50 times per second and has amazing flying capabilities. For example, hummingbirds move their wings in a figure-eight pattern, allowing them to “hover” in midair. In addition, these unique flying characteristics allow a hummingbird to feed on a flower while in flight. Unsurprisingly, because hummingbirds move so quickly, they feed frequently on nectar from flowers and insects.

Tips For Leaf Peeping:

Peak fall colors typically occur in late September and early October, but can vary depending on elevation and weather.

- Check Conditions: Before heading out, check trail conditions, parking availability, and any potential closures.
- Consider Mid-Week Trips: Weekends can be very crowded, especially at popular locations like Kenosha Pass.
- Explore Beyond the Popular Spots: Many lesser-known trails and scenic drives offer equally stunning views.
- Be Prepared: Bring layers of clothing, as mountain weather can change quickly, according to Follow Tiff's Journey.

National Grandparents Day

On the Sunday following Labor Day, National Grandparents Day honors the love only grandparents can provide. Grandparents and their grandchildren share a special bond. These hugging, caring and patient people in the lives of children offer more than a generous dose of love. Grandparents provide an abundance of wisdom. They also offer guidance and stability.

September days have the warmth of summer in their briefer hours, but in their lengthening evenings a prophetic breath of autumn.

Autumnal Equinox

The Autumnal Equinox in September ushers in a change of season. It is observed annually when the sun can be seen directly overhead along the equator. The day marks the end of summer and beginning of fall in the Northern Hemisphere.

The autumn equinox is one of two days when all points on Earth except the polar regions see the sunrise and set at due east and due west. With few exceptions, all latitudes see almost precisely 12 hours of daylight and 12 of darkness.

Positive Thinking Day

Positive Thinking Day is on September 13 on the National Day Calendar as a day to promote the power of positivity and the impact this simple act can have on your life. Join us as we explain why maintaining a positive mind benefits you and those around you.

Positive thinking is an emotional and mental practice that requires an optimistic outlook on life. It's about choosing to focus on the positive things that empower us despite our circumstances. A positive thinker doesn't ignore negative aspects of their life. Instead, they maintain a hopeful attitude to get them through the disruption.

*Outside the leaves on the trees constricted slightly;
they were the deep done green of the beginning of autumn.
It was a Sunday in September.*
